

OVERVIEW

The international seminar on “Expanding Social Security Coverage in the Disruptive Economy Era” will take place in Bali, Indonesia, from 17 to 18 October 2017.

In this seminar, there will be discussions on the future of employment as an impact of current global economic trend and discussions on the innovation of social security framework in the current and future economic condition.

This forum is open to ISSA members from around the world and invited participants only. The languages of this seminar will be English and Indonesian, and simultaneous interpretations will be provided in these languages. There is no registration fee for ISSA members and invited participants. Participants are responsible for their travel and accommodation costs.

It is hosted by BPJS Ketenagakerjaan, Indonesian Social Security Administering Body for Employment.